The Free Press announces the provincial elections will be held on July 14th. Premier Roblin says the date has not been set yet. The Free Press has now an opportunity to make another guess.

If the flag that floats over our school is a fair sample of the condition of those throughout the province, the time is not far distant when the Roblin government will have to send out a new supply.

The town sidewalks in some places need a little attention. A loose or missing board may give some one a severe fall, resulting in a broken arm or leg, and the municipality may be called upon to pay damages.

The heavy rains of Saturday night, Sunday and the snow on Monday has made the farmers wear a broad smile. The land was very dry and breaking was a very heavy job. The grass also needed moisture badly. The advent of warm weather will now be most welcome.

A lighting demonstration of the Pitner gasoline lighting system was given at the hotel on Monday evening, a large number of citizens being in attendance. The lamp for street illumination gives a very fine light while the lamps for inside lighting is too well known to be commented upon. W. A. Brady is the local agent.

ASPECT OF

ZAM-BUK

IT SAVES MONEY

Zam-Buk spells saving to you! Suppose husband, wife or some member of the family catches a cut or a bad scratch, which festers or turns to blood poisoning. Results—off work! What does that mean at pay day? Zam-Buk prevents wounds, cuts or injuries from turning the wrong way. Apply it immediately, and it kills the poison and starts healing.

There is another aspect. If you have in the family, or some, ringworm, eczema, or any skin disease, try Zam-Buk. It does not depend on expending money on experimenting! You will have to get Zam-Buk eventually. It is more and more used to save cost of the other things. Hear these persons—

Mr. A. M. Brooks, Wellington Street, Stouffville, Ont., says: "If only I had got Zam-Buk at first, it would have saved me scores of dollars, as well as hours of agony." Mr. Brooks has been cured of eczema. He says: "My neck, chest and body were covered with the terrible disease. The itching, burning and smarting it suffered, made me unable to go through it all well! Doctors' lotions, ointments and prescriptions didn't do me a bit of good; and from one thing to another I passed, only to find them useless. With Zam-Buk it was different, and without going through a long story, I can say that a few weeks' treatment with this great healer has healed the sores, and rid me for good of the terrible disease, which had laid me in its grip for over ten months!"

"If I had applied Zam-Buk to the first place, instead of trying the other prescriptions, I could have saved myself a lot of money." Mrs. R. E. Bennett, 1000 St. Lawrence Ave., St. Boniface, Winnipeg. Mrs. Bennett had a bad case of ringworm. Her neck, chest and body were covered with the terrible disease. The itching, burning and smarting it suffered, made me unable to go through it all well! Doctors' lotions, ointments and prescriptions didn't do me a bit of good; and from one thing to another I passed, only to find them useless. With Zam-Buk it was different, and without going through a long story, I can say that a few weeks' treatment with this great healer has healed the sores, and rid me for good of the terrible disease, which had laid me in its grip for over ten months!"

All skin injuries and diseases are cured by Zam-Buk. Eczema, eruptions, hemorrhoids, piles, inflamed patches, cuts, burns, scalp sores, chaps, etc., cannot resist its action. It is the best for all drugs and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse all imitations.

OLD George Kettle rushed into the Trotwood telegraph office the other day with a small package wrapped in a newspaper under his arm. "Telegraph this to my wife down to Dayton, Harvey," he said to the telegraph clerk, thrusting the package through the little window. "No, no, George, we can't do anything like that," laughed the clerk. "Drat ye," said George angrily, "ye get to do it. It's my wife's teeth."

Storyettes

ARE your poems widely read?" "Well, the last one I wrote was read by over fifty editors."

AFTER all," said the optimist, "you must admit that this is the best world you have ever been in."

"Yes," replied the pessimist, "but, hang it, my wife is the best wife I've ever had, and that's not saying much for her."

TP. O'CONNOR, during his recent visit to America, told many a story about absentee landlords. "One of these men," said Mr. O'Connell at a dinner in New York, "wrote to his Kerry steward from a Piccadilly club, in the troublous days of land league and moonlighters: 'Tell the tenants no threats to shoot you will frighten me.'"

AN inveterate wit and punster asked the captain of a craft loaded with beer, "What are you doing with that beer?" "I'm taking it to the ship," replied the skipper, "we always cook aboard."

"Cook a board, do you?" rejoined the wag; "then I see you have been well provided with provisions this trip, at all events."

MR. H. G. WELLS, the novelist, tells a story of a gentleman next to whom he once sat at a public dinner. The conversation had turned upon one of his own books and Mr. Wells had said something to the effect that "were there no self-seekers the world would be a very Utopia." This might promptly observed "I maintain that all water used for drinking and culinary purposes should be boiled at least an hour."

"No, sir," was the unexpected reply; "I am in the coal line."

ROBERT HENRI, the painter, discussed at a dinner the popular taste in art. "The popular taste in art," he said, "is apt to be peculiar."

"Once in Vermont I was at work upon a picturesque bit of woodland—a lone, a charming effect of sunlight, and shadow—when a hand fell heavily on my shoulder, and the voice of a young farmer said: "What are you painting?" that little bit of road? Come along with me, mister, an' I'll show ye something worth painting—three miles of road, all just repaired."

ONE of the new women visited a Boston fortune-teller. "Lady," said the fortune-teller, shuffling the cards, "the fate decrees that you will visit foreign lands. You will mingle in the court life of kings and queens. Conquer all rivals, you will marry the man of your choice, a tall, dark, handsome gent of distinguished ancestry—in fact, a peer of the realm."

"Will he be young?" "Yes; young and rich."

The visitor in her excitement clutched the seer's arm. "But how," she cried eagerly, "how am I to get rid of my present husband?"

IT was her birthday, and the loving little wife moved her low chair close to her husband's side. She was reading. She placed her dear little hand lovingly on his arm and moved it softly towards his coat-collar. He felt nice all over. He certainly expected a kiss.

"Hubbie!" said she. "What, my dear?" "I was just thinking—" "Were you, my love?" "I was just thinking how nicely this suit of clothes you have on would work into a rag carpet."

SOLOMON and Moses, while walking by the canal, saw a notice-board which stated that two dollars would be paid to whoever rescued another man from drowning. It didn't take them more than a minute to arrange that one should fall in and be saved by the other, and the "stakes" divided.

In went Sol, and found it rather deeper than he expected. However, he splashed about, crying:—"Come on, Moses! Save me!"

Moses hesitated. "Sol," he said, "I've been reading that notice-board again, and it says, 'Five dollars for a dead body.' Now, do be reasonable."

THE attractive young lady who had written "Urgent" on her card was shown into the consulting room of Sir Chopham Fyne, head of the famous surgical hospital in Splishshire. "And what is the matter with you?" said the great man. "I wish," she answered, "to become a nurse in this institution." The surgeon tapped a thoughtful tooth with his lancet. "First, one question. Have you had any previous experience?" She dangled him with a reassuring smile. "Experience!" she cried. "I should just think so. Two of my brothers play football, another has tried to cross the Channel in an aeroplane of his own make, mother is a suffragette, and father keeps a motor car."

Although the race of 1906 was decided in straight heats, it was won by a great mare, and some of the candidates were Susie J. Dreamer and Major Delmar. It was by Ferona, by Moko, dam Hettie (sire by Sunbeam, who has won the two-year-old section of the futurity the year before, Ferona was too good for her field, and won in straight heats in 2:12½, 2:10½ and 2:12. Ferona finished her career with a record of 2:54½.

There were only six starters for the race in 1901, but two great horses were Fred and second, Fred and second, Walcott Hall. The latter had won the two-year-old section of the futurity the year before and it was hoped would be able to repeat the Ferona double event, but he was too old for the race, and he was in 2:13½, 2:11½ and 2:14. It was a misfortune that Peter Stirling was bought by a wealthy amateur and retired, and has practically never been heard of since, except on the raceways around New York. Had he been in other hands he promised to be a most brilliant campaigner.

STIRLING

IN SUNNY SOUTHERN ALBERTA

"THE LUSTIEST BABY OF THE LUSTY PRAIRIE"

Andrew Carnegie says in his book: "Few large fortunes can now be made in any part of the world except from one cause—the Rise in Value in Real Estate."
Nowhere in the world are Real Estate values rising as rapidly as in Western Canada, and nowhere in Western Canada as fast as in Sunny Southern Alberta. It almost surpasses belief even to Westerners who are used to big things. The C.P.R. folders state: "There has been nothing in the World to Equal It."

A FEW REASONS OUT OF MANY:
(1) Sunny Southern Alberta is the home of the famous Winter Wheat "Alberta Red." One crop pays for the land. The preliminary report for the crop of 1909 issued by the Alberta Department of Agriculture states: "Numerous instances show that over 60 bush per acre have been obtained." This Winter Wheat Belt is limited to an area in Sunny Southern Alberta, of which Stirling is in the centre.
(2) Alfalfa is grown in Sunny Southern Alberta. In a bulletin just issued by the Department of Agriculture at Washington, it states that wherever Alfalfa has been generally introduced into any state, that within three years the price of land has doubled. Some of the finest Alfalfa in the World is grown around Stirling.

(3) The Glorious Climate. What the Gulf Stream is to Ireland, the "Chinook" is to Southern Alberta. The "Chinook" is a warm dry wind blowing from the Mountains across the plains, melting in a few hours any snow that may have fallen, and giving to the atmosphere a pleasant dryness. Sleighs are unknown in Sunny Southern Alberta. Stirling is just 80 miles from the Rockies and gets the full benefit of the balmy "Chinook."

The new town of Stirling is in the heart of this development, with two lines of railway already built and in operation, and other lines projected. Four passenger trains daily now. Last June it was open prairie. Today a thriving town with local and long distance telephone. The growth this year will be phenomenal. Buy in Stirling today.

PIPESTONE

Rev. Batt, of Carberry, occupied the Presbyterian pulpit on Sunday in the absence of Rev. McIntosh, who preached the same day at Deloraine.

Rev. Day is at Carnduff where his brother lies seriously ill.

Miss Banting, teacher of our primary department is ill and as a consequence her pupils are enjoying a holiday.

T. Forke shipped a car of prime cattle to Montreal on Friday and a number of cars of equally good animals are to be shipped in the near future.

Messrs Brock, J. Fairlie, A. E. Bridgett and C. Skelding went over to Virden on Friday afternoon in the latter's auto. While there they attended the racing matinee.

Miss McNicol went to Arcola on Wednesday to act as bridesmaid at Miss Barker's marriage. Miss Barker is well known here having been a teacher in our school.

Memorial service will be held in the Presbyterian church to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Suitable addresses will be delivered by Rev. Day, McIntosh, and R. Forke. School children will march in a body from the school. Any one wishing to attend in uniform can obtain same from J. G. Rattray—and all to meet at the schoolhouse at 2.45. All places of business will be closed from 2.30 to 4.30.

The rain, the snow and the following sunshine of the early part of the week was most pleasing to farmers and business men alike.

Dr. Maines and wife returned to our town on Thursday after spending a brief honeymoon at western points.

A meeting of the citizens was held last week when Reeve Forke and Councillor Smith were in attendance. Local improvement plans were discussed and W. Stinson was appointed overseer for the rural work and J. G. Rattray, G. Kennedy and D. L. Mellish were appointed for the town.

After being separated for three years, Mrs. Carnie and her two children arrived from Scotland to join her husband.

Ode composed by W. Lothian to be sung at the memorial service for King Edward VII, held at Pipestone, May 20th, 1910.

Our gracious king, beloved, revered,
Wide Empire mourns him called to rest,
While nations hold his name endeared,
His reign to all benignly blest.

A Patriot King who loved his land,
His sceptre for the highest stood,
With wisdom of the guiding hand
He labored for his people's good.

Earth at his grave its tribute lays
As helper to the brightening dawn
That ushers in the golden days
Of peace on earth, good will to man.

Peace to his memory, be our grief
As those who glory in their dead,
So may our Empire mourn her chief,
Yet still by King of Kings be led.

TAG DAY

The founding of a sanatorium for consumptive patients in an advanced stage of the dread disease is most commendable. Everyone will have an opportunity on Saturday to contribute towards a fund for such a purpose. The different municipalities have been organized toward such an end, and it is expected the people will respond in a liberal manner.

Consumption has claimed many victims in the past that, with proper treatment in proper places, might have escaped. The disease has spread largely because the patients were not isolated from their fellows. If the campaign on Saturday is successful, much of this danger will be averted. It is to be hoped that every citizen will take an interest in this great work, and do all that can be done to solve this great question.

Owing to May 24th coming on Tuesday, and that the Recorder may be in the mail in good time, advertisers are requested to bring in changes at or before noon on Monday.

Dan Steele, of Kennedy, Sask., was in town for a short time on Saturday.

The Manitoba government has made arrangements for the purchase of the Melita and Arthur telephone system, which will be taken over on Monday and placed under the control of the telephone commission.

A deputation consisting of A. M. Lyle and A. B. Estlin, representing the company, waited on the government, and as a result of the conference arrangements were made for the immediate taking over of the plant, real estate, buildings, materials on hand and general good will of the company which at present occupies the field in the southwestern portion of the province. The acquisition of this plant will enable the commission to commence at once active operations in the municipalities of Albert, Edward and Arthur.

The present system consists of 75 miles of trunk lines and 65 miles of branch lines, giving in all service to 260 subscribers of which 135 are in the town of Melita.—The Telegram.

GREATEST WOMAN IN ALL THE WORLD—MME. CURIE

A MIDDLE-AGED woman, fairly tall and with a pale face. Her features regular, clean-cut...

Such is Mme. Curie, whom her admirers call "the greatest woman in the world," and who, in conjunction with another French scientist...

Her nursery was a laboratory. Forty years ago (Mme. Curie is now in her forty-fifth year) she gave up her dolls to play with retorts, crucibles, and test tubes...

When she grew older she began to learn the rudiments of every trade and something of their meaning. Poverty is usually recognized as pushing a woman harder...

Mme. Curie lives frugally in a quiet house in Paris, screened from the outer world by a high wall. When she is in her laboratory...

Other women who might be invited to give her the dismounting she would not do. When an admirer belabors her with compliments...

Yet, despite her modesty, it is known that she was more than a mere assistant to her husband. It is, indeed, claimed that she herself was the originator of the radium discoveries...

She shares with most savants that faculty of abstraction that is unable to those engaged in scientific work. When she is employed upon a difficult piece of research...

It is a well-known fact that some metals are subject to phenomena which resemble in their character those which attack living organisms...

The collecting of old pewter is, however, attended with certain risks, for it is a strange, although little-known fact, that this metal is subject to an affection which in German is very appropriately designated as pewter (tin plague).

GOOD ROADS PROBLEM

With the coming of automobiles
the question of good roads at once becomes a live one. The life of the automobile depends on the road it travels. Hence the interest in better roads. But the good roads are as necessary to the farmer as to the owner of an auto.
The day is near at hand when the motor will be used much more extensively upon the roads, when the farmer will haul his grain to market by such means and the run-about will supplant the driving horse. This we may see within a short decade, and then every owner of a horseless vehicle will show more interest in the question of better highways.

But whether we are entering the motor age or not, the good road problem deserves much attention.
Good roads save horse-flesh, save vehicles, and are money-savers, viewed from any standpoint. They mean greater ease in transportation, and better time in case of an urgent call. Good roads are as necessary as good schools, good churches, good trading places and good markets. Good roads will build up any town, make a better market, and upbuild any district.
Good roads are as necessary to the towns as to the country, to the merchant as to the farmer, and all who in any way are assisted by good roads should take an interest in their building.

DOG FAILED TO FOLLOW SCENT

Elkhorn, Man., May 12—Interest in the mysterious disappearance of little Norman France is daily increasing. This afternoon detective Brownlee of the Provincial police force, and Max Sand-fort returned with a dog which has been thoroughly trained for just such cases as this. The dog is a German Shepherd dog, and has been trained by the Berlin police force, where many such animals are used in detective work.
The dog is owned by Rev. Joseph Cordes, of Windthorst, Sask. On arriving, the dog was taken immediately to the spot where the lost boy was last seen, but was unable to follow the scent to any great distance. The dog was then taken to the France home, and it found every nook and corner where the boy had been playing, but did not take up the scent on the trail
where the boy was last seen.

There are several reports current as to the child having been seen with Indians, but none of these can be verified as yet. All possible clues are being followed up. The general impression now is that the boy has been kidnapped.

The committee appointed by the ratepayers to look after the fire protection proposition have not been inactive. They have received a very good offer from a Winnipeg firm for two fire engines and a truck and ladder. Several sites for the building have been offered but no selection has yet been made. Before anything definite is done, the public will be interviewed, that all may be satisfied.

RESTON FAIR DATES CHANGED

Some one has blundered. The Deputy-Minister of Agriculture J.
J. Golding, is blamed for the fixing of the dates of the Reston and Virden Fairs upon the same days, viz., August 4th and 5th.

A word as to the fixing of the fair dates may not be out of place.
In order to secure expert cattle and horse judges, these being sent out by the government, the Department of Agriculture has been in the habit of fixing the dates for the various fairs throughout the province. In fixing those of Reston and Virden, they evidently got their wires crossed, or through carelessness, made the dates for both these fairs on the same days. The matter has been brought to the attention of the proper authorities, in Winnipeg, and the date for our annual fair has been changed to July 28th and 29th.

The Virden people should have given away, as the list for the Reston Agricultural Society has been in the hands of the members for a month.

It is to be hoped that the change of dates will not have a tendency to injure the exhibition. Every member, every director and every official should put forth every possible effort to make this year's exhibition a great success.

PARISIAN SAGE CURES DANDRUFF

If it don't, the Reston Drug Store Will Give You Your Money Back.

Yes, Parisian Sage, the most invigorating hair restorer, cures dandruff and grows hair. The women of Canada, who have luxuriant hair, know it does, and that is why thousands of attractive women throughout the land are regularly using it.

For years this almost marvelous grower of lustrous and beautiful hair was confined to the elite
of Europe and New York City, but about two years ago it was given to a select list of druggists, and to-day can be obtained in any city or town in America where society women of refinement are to be found.

Parisian Sage is the most wonderful and delightful tonic in the world. It makes the hair soft, lustrous, and luxuriant in a few days. It is perfumed most daintily and is not sticky or greasy.
It stops falling hair, cures dandruff or itching scalp in two weeks, or money back.

The Reston Drug Store sells it for 50 cents a large bottle, or direct, all charges prepaid, by Canadian makers, Giroux Mfg. Co., at Fort Erie, Ont.

FASHIONS AND FANCIES

COMBINING different materials is one of the season's styles that has apparently met with most marked approval. There is much that is practical in the idea, for often the material most satisfactory for skirt and coat is quite impossible for the waist, and a thinner fabric for the waist would be impracticable in a skirt. Foulard and serge, cloth and satyn make effective combinations. Voile de soie and liberty satin is another popular combination, and the manufacturers have most kindly furnished the same shades in all leading colors, so that the task of selecting just the right shades is not so difficult as might be expected. Simple and dainty but smart and becoming is one of the models for a voile de soie and liberty satin gown. The upper part of the skirt and the lower part of the waist are of the voile de soie, while the lower part of the skirt and the yoke, upper sleeves and pleat in the front of the waist are of the satin. The waist line is in its normal position, the belt of crushed satin or velvet, finished with a fancy buckle. All the lines of this gown are exceedingly simple, but it is a simplicity that implies perfection of taste and good dressmaking. Cloth and chiffon are not a new combination of materials, but this year the method by which they are made up is also, lately new. All the cloths used at present are of the softest, lightest weave, and in truth cachemire de soie is generally chosen in preference, if the style of gown demands any draped folds, for the draperies must all fall in soft, graceful lines not possible if any too heavy or thick material is chosen. The body of the waist made in chiffon is so much cooler and more comfortable in warm weather, even though it must be worn over a boned and perfect fitting waist, that it is only remarkable the fashion did not gain stronger foothold long since. A charming model of a cloth and chiffon gown is made in one of the newest shades of deep rose color. Over the silk lining is a plain strip of chiffon. The double overskirt of cachemire de soie or cloth is caught up at the left side with a broad satin ribbon that starts from under the pointed girde of satin. The waist of chiffon is in the new cut that has sleeve and waist in one. Broad satin bands embroidered in silk of the same color as the gown trim skirt and waist, and if all one color is too trying, then bands of embroidered heavy cream lace are substituted.

Marine, blue and gray are three other colors chosen for this model, which has also been copied in black with success. All black gowns are always smart in summer, when the his, transparent materials in black are in fascinating variety. Again is chiffon combined with cachemire de soie or liberty satin, and most charming results are obtained. Voile de soie is just a trifle heavier than chiffon, but in both materials there are many different qualities, each and all of which combine perfectly with heavier fabrics. Made over white pompadour silk, satin or net, or the plain cloth of silver or gold or silver net the most delightfully cool and mysterious effects of color can be obtained, so that the all black gown can be varied in many ways. In all black it can be very smart and original simply by combining different materials, while, as before stated, the colored linings add a most unusual and charming color effect. Some women contend the all black gown has a depressing effect upon their spirits. This season they cannot but admit its charm, for not only can the too sombre appearance they object to be relieved by colored lining, but by a touch of color in the waist or belt, for belts of contrasting color are once again popular.

The elaborate and the simple are displayed in sharp contrast this season, but the elaborate designs are the most popular for the moment cannot be gainsaid, and the woman who rejoices in simple lines and the plainer effects has a hard task to find just what she wants to copy in the latest models that are displayed.

Fortunately there are still remaining conservative tailors who cannot be swerved from their fixed belief in certain regulation styles, that vary surprisingly little from year to year, so that the plain tailor costume is always a good investment, but it must be correct in line and perfect in cut and fit. Coats are shorter than last year, even in the conservative tailor models; skirts have pleats in preference to being absolutely plain and tight fitting, and the belted Norfolk jacket and Russian blouse costumes are exhibited as the latest styles, but, be it understood, not to the exclusion of the regulation plain coat and skirt costumes. Sleeves are larger than last season, and for the more elaborate costumes the three-quarter length sleeve is popular, but with the plain costume only the regulation length coat sleeve is considered correct.

The long shawl reaver has given way to the turned down velvet collar, and either narrow, short revers or no revers at all. Pockets are rather distinctive of the latest fashions and are edged with a piping of velvet to match the collar, while a contrast in the color is very smart. A light apricot serge or cloth is trimmed with velvet collar and piping of a much darker shade, even a deep red being used, the same idea being carried out in gray or light tan, with darker gray and brown respectively.

The finish of the waist at the waist line demands close attention in the new gowns, the one piece gown still lives, though there are many more waist and skirt gowns made up than there were last year, but always, be it understood, so constructed that the belt hides the joining of the two. While the normal waist line is once again fashionable, long white effects are not yet popular and the belts are wide and high on the waist.

Draped satin and silk belts and bodices are for the moment popular. Whether they will so continue cannot be told, for it is always the most becoming that is chosen. Then there is more of a full soft effect fashionable this season; all waists show a slight blouse over the belt, indicating rather than outlining the figure. The soft materials are especially effective in these styles, while the heavier are best for the tighter fitting draped waists.

Are skirts more fashionable long or short is a question anxiously asked of Dame Fashion. Short for the street, long for the home, is the almost too comprehensive answer to such inquiries. The practical, general wear street gown is short, but not exaggeratedly so; the afternoon reception gown is far smarter made long, but again not of exaggerated length. Foulard, voile de soie and gowns of light materials have short skirts, short enough to just clear the ground, but these are not of the elaborate order suitable for formal afternoon entertainments.

It is claimed by the practical woman that a gown with two skirts, one short and one long, is a wonderful investment. The plan is far more feasible for winter than for summer, but can be carried out in summer materials. Another so-called practical scheme is the princess gown of liberty satin, over which is worn different coats of lace, chiffon or voile. As this last fashion is best carried out when the coats or overdresses—for such they are—are most costly ranging from $150 upward, it can scarcely be classed with the economical possibilities for the spring and summer wardrobe, but it is smart all the same.

At the first glance the double skirt as exhibited in the latest fashions presents many difficulties for home dressmaking, but that double skirts are fashionable this season must be admitted, and the problem how to make them must be solved. There must be a perfect fitting drop skirt; this means that the drop skirt must fit smoothly in the front and sides. At the back also there must be no fulness, but there must be sufficient width to prevent the skirt from cutting in below the hips; the inverted pleats at the back will obviate this difficulty. For the tunic overskirt effect there must be a wide band or seam of the material sewed on the drop skirt. This will hang best if not fastened to the hem of the drop skirt but finished by itself; then it is not difficult to make the tunic or overskirt separate.

With the lower cut corset and the lower waist some support to the bust is, as a rule, necessary to make the waist, unless perfectly boned or fitted, look well, but there are several new brassieres or bust supporters this year that are very well cut, and which take the place of a fitted lining. Then it is well worth the trouble for every woman to have made by some dressmaker who can cut well and who knows the customer's lines, a perfect fitting lining or corset cover of heavy linen or silk.

Removing Chemical Spots.—White spots which are formed on furniture by dropping certain chemicals upon it, and which are almost more unsightly than any other defect, can be removed by the application of camphorated oil. This must be vigorously rubbed over the spot, sufficient time being expended upon it to take due effect, and should be left to dry, the spots being treated some little time later to an equally careful application of olive oil. A polish with selyot or leather will finally be required.

Soot on Carpets.—If soot is spilled on the carpet it should never be wiped up with a cloth, for it is sure to smear over the carpet and make an ugly mark difficult to remove. Scatter salt thickly over the place and sweep it and the soot together. By so doing the soot will come up quite cleanly without leaving any mark at all.

The Ingredients Used In NA-DRU-CO

Medicinal and Toilet Preparations are of the same high quality as those your druggist uses in filling your physician's prescriptions.

The National Drug and Chemical Company supplies the greater part of the drugs dispensed by the physicians and druggists of Canada, and it is probable that the ingredients used by your own druggist in his prescription work came from our warehouses.

From these same warehouses come the ingredients used by our expert chemists in compounding NA-DRU-CO preparations. Every ounce of material used in every NA-DRU-CO article is the best that our skilled buyers can select from the world's markets.

We Can Afford

to use only the very best materials because, buying in immense quantities for our wholesale trade, we get the best crude drugs at rock bottom prices. In our chemical laboratories these raw materials are refined and prepared by expert chemists and subjected to rigid tests both for strength and purity before being used in NA-DRU-CO preparations.

NA-DRU-CO Cod Liver Oil Compound, for instance, is made from the best of materials, by our expert chemists, and is consequently the most perfect tonic. NA-DRU-CO Nervosine is another striking example of the results our skilled chemists get from good ingredients.

We Could Not Afford

to use any but the finest and purest materials in each and every NA-DRU-CO preparation, because on the quality of each depends the future of the whole line. Linked together as they are by the NA-DRU-CO Trade Mark, a single article found unreliable would go far to destroy your confidence in all NA-DRU-CO goods.

Ask your druggist about the quality of the drugs we supply to him—about our facilities for compounding superior medicinal and toilet preparations—about our reliability.

Go a little further if you like, and ask your physician or your druggist what goes into NA-DRU-CO preparations. They can tell you, for we will furnish to any physician or druggist in Canada, on request, a full list of the ingredients in any NA-DRU-CO preparation.

"Money Back"

Furthermore, if any NA-DRU-CO article you buy does not entirely satisfy you, return it and your druggist will refund your money.

If your druggist has not the NA-DRU-CO article you want in stock he can get it for you within two days from our nearest wholesale branch.

HIGH-CLASS REFRIGERATOR.

There are numerous makes of refrigerators, but when it comes to "good reliable refrigerators" there is only one, and that is the "Best." The "Best" refrigerator is constructed on scientific principles and is the product of large experiments in that direction. We challenge competition and comparison on the following:—

1. Free circulation and absence from odor.
2. Pure, dry air.
3. Cleanliness and ease in keeping clean.
4. Freedom from moisture.
5. Coldness and low, uniform temperature.
6. Economy in ice consumption.
7. Perfect ventilation.
8. Snow white baked enamel lining.
9. Hygienic.

The "BEST" system of ventilation solves the problem of pure air refrigerators. The "BEST" refrigerator is equipped with syphon ventilation and circulation system and the principle is covered by strong government patents and no other manufacturer can use this system.

The "BEST" Refrigerator enables you to place indiscriminately on the shelves, onions, fruit, fish, cheese and any other foods, together with milk, cream and butter in open vessels in the same compartments and no contamination or mixture of odors.

NOTICE—The above test was made in Winnipeg by two known doctors, and we will be pleased to hand you one of their reports.

We Protect You.

We guarantee the "BEST" Refrigerator to be as represented. If after a Twenty Day Trial, observing carefully our printed instructions, yours should not do all we claim for it, upon notice from you we will make good any deficiency or take back the refrigerator or refund your money.

Before buying a refrigerator make full enquiry, also be sure and see and have the "BEST" explained to you. These refrigerators are made in all sizes from the one for family use to the large hotel and restaurant kind.
