Visit Winnipeg

RESTON—A group of horticulturists and friends from Reston, Tilston, Antler, Redvers, Fairlight and Pipestone journeyed to Polo Park, Winnipeg on Thursday, August 24th by chartered bus.

They attended the flower, fruit and vegetable show there and also went for an enjoyable cruise down the Red River on the M. S. River Rouge.

Rain halts the harvest

RESTON—Rain, which started in the early hours of Wednesday morning, with a sharp electrical storm, brought a halt to harvest operations which had been progressing at a rapid pace. By press time on Wednesday about seventenths of an inch of rain had fallen and it was still raining.

District reports finding several infestations of this weed in the R. M. of Wallace during the past few weeks. Mr. Pearn reports finding patches of Scentless Chamomile along roadsides and in fields in the Two Creeks area. It has also been found in the Hargrave area, including the townsite, as well as an area six miles west of Virden.

Art Smith, Weed Supervisor for the Pipestone Albert Weed District also reports finding Scentless Chamomile in the north-west corner of the R. M. of Pipestone.

Scentless Chamomile somewhat resembles Oxeye Daisy in that the flower heads have a yellow centre surrounded by white florets. Scentless Chamomile has smaller flower heads than Oxeye Daisy and more finely dissected leaves.

Cultivation is the only practical method to control this weed on cropland. In waste areas, soil sterilants may be used.

Anyone who believes he may have an infestation of Scentless Chamomile should notify his weed supervisor as soon as possible.

Grain bins should be thoroughly cleaned

WINNIPEG—Grain bins should be cleaned thoroughly before this year's crop is put into the bins, says Dave Smith, Provincial Extension Entomologist.

Through cleaning before the arrival of new grain will provide good insect infestation against grain insect infestation this winter.

Mr. Smith provides the following tips on clean up:

● Repair and weatherproof the bins.

● Clean thoroughly and burn or bury sweepings to eliminate a potential breeding ground for insects.

● Spray granary thoroughly with a mixture of half pint malathion, 50 percent E. C. in one gallon of water. Apply the mixture at a rate of one gallon per 1,000 square feet or to the point of runoff.

● Clean up and burn or bury any grain spilled during the process of filling or emptying bins.

● Destroy grain residues that remain after grain has been removed from piles or temporary storage.

Mr. Smith says that if grain has been rejected at the elevator due to insect infestation, a sample should be forwarded to Entomology Section, 7th Floor, Norquay Building, Winnipeg, so that the insects may be properly identified. Different control measures are used to eliminate fungus feeding pests than for grain feeding insects.

Without proper identification, chemicals may be used incorrectly.

The contract for the six suite addition had been let and work was delayed pending final approval of the mortgage.

Wheat sample is better from the summerfallow & late sown fields

RESTON—The wheat sample has improved with the harvesting of the summerfallow and later sown crops, both Bob Turnbull at the U.G.G. and John Williamson, at the Pool, told the Recorder reporter on Tuesday morning.

The early harvested samples contained a lot of plebeial kernels, but the later harvested wheat is an excellent sample & will grade mostly 1 and 2. It weighs up to 63 pounds to the bushel.

Good progress was made with the harvest during the past week and the percentage in the bin is approaching 50 percent. With another two weeks of good harvest weather most of the crop will be combined.

The unseasonably hot weather prevailed until Wednesday evening of last week when a chilly wind marked the end of above 50 degree temperatures. Since then the mercury has been between 60 and 70 degrees in the afternoon and dipped towards the freezing point some nights.

The grain is moving freely with both elevators having space available for the quota and on Tuesday morning another eight cars were being loaded at the two elevators.

Average yield for barley is estimated at 40 bushels to the acre and for wheat 25 bushels to the acre. While some oats have been harvested, they have been stored on the farms and no reports of yields are available.

Eleven municipalities including Albert in 'Operation Respect'

WINNIPEG—Eleven municipalities located throughout Manitoba are participating in the "Operation Respect" program to build better farmer-hunter relationships by distributing information and material, the Department of Mines, Resources and Environmental Management has announced.

The municipalities participating are Portage la Prairie, Rockwood, Pembina, South Cypress, North Cypress, Albert, Sifton, Ellice, Birle, Grandview and Minota.

Free information and signs to be displayed on farm properties are available at the offices of these municipalities and may be picked up anytime by landowners.

The Operation Respect program was started last year and concentrated its efforts in southwestern Manitoba. Members of fish and game clubs this year will call on several hundred farms in south-central Manitoba with signs that encourage hunters to ask permission to hunt, to protect farm buildings, and to close gates. Each farm will be provided with 18 signs.

In addition to the concentrated effort in southern Manitoba, seven Manitoba Wildlife Federation clubs in other areas of the province will conduct their campaigns within their own areas. The municipalities in which signs are available at municipal offices complement both the other phases of the program.

Materials cost is being shared by the Wildlife Federation and the Department of Mines, Resources and Environmental Management.

ALSTONE NOTES

by E. J. Guthrie

Residents of Alstone served a 10 o'clock breakfast Wednesday morning in order that we might say goodbye to Mrs. Cormack (nee Mildred Smith) and her brother Donald. We are most sorry to see them go, but hope they will drop in to see us at some future date. The passing of their mother was a sad blow to the Lodge. She was always a very cheery person and in spite of her 94 years kept active almost to the end.

Mr. E. J. Guthrie is leaving for a visit to Lanark County, Ont., and so has asked Jessie Jackson and Clara Bulloch to write his notes during his absence. So if they are not up to par you'll know who to blame.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Lappin of Los Angeles, Calif., arrived on Monday to visit the latter's mother, Mrs. G. Milliken and also her brother, John and Bev.

Bowling was called off Thursday night due to the high cold wind but will resume again this Thursday weather permitting.

Mrs. Ida Brady, of Brandon, and sister-in-law Dorothy Brady Gabel of Hartney, called at Alstone on Thursday evening to renew acquaintances. Glad to see you ladies. Call again!

Mrs. Goldie Lau left on Thursday for Fairview where she is going to spend awhile with her husband, who has been a patient there for some time. Hope you like your new home Mrs. Lau but we all miss you here so be sure and make us a visit before too long!

I think we would be most remiss if we didn't pass on a most hearty vote of thanks to all the good friends who have sent us so many flowers. Our lounge has been most beautiful with the many bouquets.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Page of Point Du Bois, Man., have been visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Jezzard, and her brother Frank of Prairie Rose.

We were very sorry to hear that Mrs. Cheryl Smith's daughter-in-law in the person of Mrs. Dennis Smith is at present in Virden Hospital. Hope you'll soon be quite well again Mabel! On Sunday, Peggy Walker had as dinner guests her uncle T. Senkbeil and his wife. They are from Brandon.

Mrs. Cheryl Smith has her daughter Phyllis visiting her at the present time. Mrs. Marion Sharratt and her daughter, Mrs. McDougall and baby son spent Monday with Mrs. Jezzard.

We were all pleased to have Rev. and Mrs. Hester back for the Sunday service after their holiday.

The other scribe Miss Jackson, has deserted me as she has left for a holiday to Klabey and Regina so her's hoping Mr. E. J. Guthrie won't be too disappointed with his substitute.

A PLACE IN LIFE'S PROCESSION

We tend to be cynical about everything these days, and what is called, rather contemptuously, the "work ethic" has come in for its share of abuse.

It's stupid to believe there is any inherent virtue in labor, the line goes: "leisure is the thing—the more of it the better."

Automation, fortunately, has removed a great deal of drudgery and saved us, collectively, an immense amount of time, but work has tremendous human value that no amount of leisure can replace.

Even in a highly specialized, mechanical society, where one's role is to provide only a part—often a tiny part—of some process, rather than sharing in the whole operation, a job has importance that far transcends the pay cheque. It "keeps the wolf of insignificance from the door," provides the worker with the priceless knowledge that he is a necessary strand in the total fabric of the life around him.

Ask any invalid, any unemployed person, any older what they miss; though they'll phrase it differently it will almost certainly be in the sense that they are now outside the mainstream of society, onlookers rather than a part of it. Currently a great deal of thought and money is going into an attempt to help them recover their sense of worth.

Leisure is precious, but is the icing of life, not its solid food. Working "to get ahead" in the old competitive sense may have lost its motivating power, but work that secures a place in what Kahlil Gibran calls "life's procession" is as valid a value as it ever was.

IT'S NOT THE END OF THE WORLD

Saturday night's opener in the N. H. L. — Russia hockey series proves, what some experts have been saying, that Russia is the equal or even better than the N. H. L.'s best—and even had the stars who were barred because they joined the W. H. L. been included, it is doubtful if the results would have been much different.

Of course, to claim that the Russians are amateurs, is, of course, not exactly the truth, for they play hockey, eleven months of the year, and have government supported jobs that permit them to do so. This leaves them little time for work!

Nevertheless the fact is that the Russian brand of hockey is as good, as that played in the N. H. L. — or by team Canada, as it was originally billed. This is a shock, but not the end of the world. There is no logic to the fact that because hockey was for many years, dominated by Canadian players that it should always be.

The Days Gone By

18 YEARS AGO (Sept. 6, 1953)

A yield of 81 bushels, to the acre of barley was obtained from a six acre test plot on the farm of Doug Elliott at Pipestone. In an spectacular fire the Square Deal Coop fuel truck was destroyed on Wednesday of last week. The driver Fred Paul and his passenger Onufri Olenick escaped injury when the truck went into the ditch about two miles south of Reston. The International truck and 1400 gallons of gasoline and diesel fuel were lost. C. "Baldy" Cheyne won the fall tournament at the Reston Golf Club with a 65 for 18 holes. His first round of 31 on the par 34 is a course record. The facts of life were demonstrated on Tuesday morning when the mercury at Reston shrunk to 30 above and as a result the tender garden stuff was frozen. Tilson Consolidated School opened on Aug. 29th with the following staff: Cecil Anderson, principal, grade 7 & 8; Robert Krein, grades 5 & 6; Miss Berna Adamson, grades 3 & 4 and Miss Lila Garrett, grades 1 & 2.

20 YEARS AGO (Sept. 11, 1952)

It was reported at the first fall meeting by Mrs. F. Skelton, treasurer, that the Hospital Aid had raised $2747.55 during the year. Roy Campbell reported a yield of 133 bushels to the acre from a 2 1/2 acre plot of registered Exeter oats. Arnold Wilkins also had a big yield of Exeter oats, harvesting 135 bushels from a field containing between 12 and 13 acres. Alvin Funk, of Fertile, had his elbow put out of joint while playing at the school on Thursday. He was taken to Antler for medical treatment by Mr. M. Gazeley and Mr. H. Kraus and was able to return home with his arm in a sling. Joyce Doodie, of Pipestone, had a narrow escape last week when a tractor and tractor sweep passed over her. She had lain down in the field to rest and by the time she saw the machinery approaching it was too late to move. She flattened her body and the machinery passed over her without injury, although she suffered shock and some bruises.

30 YEARS AGO (Sept. 10, 1942)

Miss Norma Munro left Reston last week for Winnipeg where she will attend Business College. Clarence Jones, R.C.E., of Chulivack, B.C., and Russell Jones, R.C.A.F., Toronto, spent two weeks leave at their home in the Tilson district. Pte. Keith Lawrence of Camp Borden, Ont., arrived Saturday to spend a month's harvest leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Lawrence at Pipestone. Weather conditions have improved and threshing commenced again on Monday and was in full swing by the middle of the week. Shooking is almost complete and it is a wonderful sight to see the fields with such big stacks so close together. The marriage of Verna, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Pierce to Charles Burton Busby, both of Reston, will take place on Sept. 26th. A few loads of 1942 wheat were delivered at the local elevators on Friday of last week. The government have made it illegal to hoard scrap steel or unusual machinery.

40 YEARS AGO (Sept. 7, 1932)

A pretty wedding was solemnized at 2 p.m. on Monday afternoon when Marion Grace, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. McMurchy was united in marriage to Dr. William Tufts, of Outlook, Sask. Rev. Patterson performed the ceremony in the Reston United Church. It is stated by many, that the present moon, giving indication of September, being a wet month. While rain would be most welcome, it is hoped that the dry spell will continue until the bulk of the threshing is complete. Bellevue school reopened on August 29th with O. A. Perlett of Virden as teacher. Mr. Robert McKenzie of the Belton district, shipped a carload of Reward wheat, which graded No. 1 hard. Miss Mina Taylor, who spent two weeks visiting her home in the Lambton district, has returned to Winnipeg to resume her duties as a nurse at the St. Boniface Hospital. The Clover Hill School reopened on Tuesday of last week with Miss M. R. Stewart in charge. Tommy Wilkins and Miss Dajoe of Killarney, spent the weekend in Reston with the former's parents.

50 YEARS AGO (Sept. 7, 1922)

A 50 acre field of rye threshed by Ed. Gutierrez yielded 1000 bushels, an average of 38 bushels an acre. At a meeting of the R.M. of Pipestone council several tenders for gravel were let at 48c per yard for the first 1/4 mile and 8c per yard for each additional 1/4 mile. Pipestone school reopened last Tuesday by Mr. Bowes, of Winnipeg, as principal, Miss Turner of Virden in charge of the intermediate room and Miss Fowler of Nesbitt in charge of the primary room. Allan McKay of Sinclair, is making good progress after being kicked by a horse on Saturday morning. The injury was proven not as serious as first feared. Wheat in the Huston district is expected to average between 15 and 20 bushels to the acre.

60 YEARS AGO (Sept. 5, 1912)

C. C. Campbell and R. J. Underhill bagged 50 ducks at Agnew Marsh on Monday. L. D. Berry, Gordon Matthews and J. Matthews also bagged 38 in the same area. By Saturday night over 50% of the wheat had fallen to the binder. It is estimated that the average yield for wheat will be 18 bushels to the acre and the late oats and barley give promise of very heavy yields. The cement sidewalk on the east side of Reston's main street was completed on Monday. The government have installed a new Fairbanks Morse in the elevator they purchased at Pipestone from the farmers of that point.

Outdoors Only

By The Rambler

No. 258

As though to live September, August closed with a stifling flurry that parred this month in with a roaster and a swift, cooling gale, suggestive of frosts we might have had and that September is sure to bring. Already and without the chemistry of frost, fall gold is growing on the bough, sprinkled with accidental crimson.

But let's go back again and check on a few earlier events with tales to tell us. The July return from Winnipeg was interrupted by a side trip to St. Ambrose in the south-east shore of Lake Manitoba. A dazzling Sunday, the occasion made this resort a Mecca for picnickers, campers, swimmers, sunbathers and bird-watchers. Toddlers delighted in far-reaching shallow waters, sunbathers grilled themselves over miles of the limitless though narrow shore, and bird-watchers absorbed the abundance of life that flitted amongst the willows and poplars or lurked and called in the teeming marsh only a short distance back of the beach. St. Ambrose is especially popular at migration time to members of Natural History groups; the place then literally swarms with bird life.

A midday concert of the coyotes was memorable during a break in our journey in Alberta. Motoring west from North Battleford, Saskatchewan, we followed Highway 14 in Alberta and reached Fabyan, a tiny village tucked in a fold of the Battle River valley. West of Fabyan the highway dipped to cross the Battle River besides which lies a beautiful Provincial camping ground. It was here, under great shady elms, that we suddenly had the pleasure of an afternoon serenade from a family of yodelling coyotes a half or three-quarters of a mile up the river. The whole trouble was that the concert stopped all too soon and left us waiting for more. Even so, for a few moments one felt an intimacy with the earth, with all nature through those keening sounds.

The following day was spent mostly at Al Oeming's Wild Animal Farm. It was living up to its name more than ever, in our estimation, the numerous young giving proof of Oeming's success as a wild animal farmer.

Not two but six Siberian tigers were lazing in their spacious compound. At least two lion cubs were pestering their mother. Camels, deer, tapirs, yaks, grizzly bears and others all had young. A fine sight were four spotted cougar kittens romping together. The pair of huge white rhinos, glistering black monsters fresh out of their walls, were reported as finally expecting.

Interesting new additions to the farm are four gorillas from West Africa, three pygmy hippopotamuses, and a pair of beautiful lesser pandas that come from far southwestern China. The last are tree-loving, cinnamon-brown, black and white creatures like long-legged, over-sized raccoons without rings on their tails. The gorillas were almost alarming in their apparent deliberation and intensity of motion and attitude. It made one wish for something similar in some humans.

Black swans, two-toned flamingos, snowy owls, green-billed marabou storks were some of the birds that caught one's eye or drew fascinated watchers.

More recent and closer wildlife can be reported, too. The Purple Martins in Reston left an almost strange silence, August 27, when they departed to the south. August 28, thirty-seven White Pelicans made an interesting flight pattern over Glimmer Lake beach, north of Glenboro. August 29, a fountaining Dove called at least twenty-four times, using only the first phrase of its usually four-part song. Maybe the heat was getting him. Then, too, maybe it was tired of having received no answer to its almost endless "Who-o Who-o?"

August 30, Mrs. Lorne Watt found a female Ruby-throated Hummingbird on the front walk, picked it up without the bird moving, then had the surprise of watching it zip off, quite unharmed. Later, Mrs. Watt found it again, this time on the step; picked it up, and was momentarily stunned by the small but intensely audible, high-pitched single note the Hummingbird uttered as it once again flashed away from her hand. What a pity the sound could not have been recorded! Did it express alarm or annoyance? One could wonder over the latter.

But to top off the cake with icing, there was the cow mouse which, the same day, Delwyn Bulloch saw in a pasture of the former E. A. Wilkins farm. Later, Marg. Jago and Shirley Williamson observed the animal standing in a fallowed field of Walter Nicholson's. As the mouse was only about twenty yards away, the ladies had a good view as it looped off, jumped a fence and disappeared across a field. What next?

This is the month to get out, clean up, repair and set out winter bird shelters and feeding stations. Any birds you wish to attract need the opportunity to become accustomed to their environment, and that definitely includes the feeders and shelters, knowing their location and condition. Let these structures appear natural and place them in a position which is at once safe, sheltered and easily visible from the house.

Plans for building bird shelters and feeders are many and varied, and can be obtained at most libraries. I have some myself; feel free to ask or call.

Don't feed birds until the middle of October—no sooner. Otherwise you will coax birds to stay that should be migrating.

Yours naturally,
RAMBLER

European trip

We then had short stay in Garmisch-Parkenskirchen, Germany, the site of the 1972 World Curling Championships. This is a peaceful town nestled right in the beautiful snow-capped mountains making it a very restful and lovely place to visit. We had two short stops in Munich but stayed away from its center because it was a very hectic city, undergoing a rapid commercial renewal and growth in preparation for the Olympic Games.

Zurich, Switzerland was our next stop for a couple of days. We spent most of our time walking and shopping in this friendly city but we did manage to see the Swiss National Museum in which we had a kaleidoscope of Swiss life through the ages, from primitive time to present. Leaving Zurich, we had the heart-stopping scenery of the Alps during the setting of the sun.

We stayed in Rome Italy for a week, a lovely city with an abundance of varied sights and wonderful people. Every corner had something new to see and experience. Even crossing the street in Rome is an experience because traffic lights are almost completely discarded. While in Rome, we seldom stopped at an intersection to let the cars stop or pass by. Like everyone else, we simply started across the street, dodging the rapid moving cars with only an occasional quick glimpse out of the corner of our eye to see if anyone was heading for us. Italians park randomly anywhere at any time in very disorderly fashion. One driver patiently honked his horn for 15 minutes before he was able to move his car out into the wide street. Rome is vast and has infinite sights. We saw the ruins of the Roman Forum where the Roman Empire had its beginning. The ruins indicated buildings of enormous proportions, culture and beauty. We also visited the Colosseum—the site of gladiatorial contests, the Spanish Steps and Trevi Fountain which ranks as one of the most beautiful fountains in Rome and one of the best known in the world. Popular tradition has it that those who wish to return to Rome must throw a small coin into the basin before they leave.

June 7 saw another highlight of our trip when we participated in a general papal audience. We were very fortunate in getting seats along the aisle where His Holiness passed twice. It was a great, touching moment as the red velvet drapes were drawn apart and we had our first glimpse of the Pope as he was carried in. The hundreds of flashes that went off created a brilliant light and the cheering and clapping was deafening. The audience lasted for 1 1/2 hours; during this time the Pope spoke in several languages. Several groups from parishes around the world were in attendance, including one from Montreal. Before leaving, he blessed the sick which was in attendance. We then visited St. Peter's Basilica and the Vatican Museum, including the Sistine Chapel and the Raphael Rooms. The history of the Basilica begins in 1506. It is surrounded by a vast colonnade in the form of an ellipse. There is a great flight of stairs in front of the church, and then the facade rises with its powerful architectural development. The church is the largest in the world; figures inlaid on the floor of St. Peter's show the length of other famous cathedrals, giving an indication of the enormous size of St. Peter's. One gets the impression of majesty and grandeur, not only because of the dimensions but due to the whole effect of the architectural and decorative elements. The Church which seems to have 3 aisles has really only one, with many side chapels. St. Peter's contains major works of art, including the Pietà, but because it had been smashed shortly before our visit, the Chapel of the Pietà was closed off. Other impressive works of art are the Chair of St. Peter and the Bronze Canopy. We ascended to the major dome where we got a sweeping view of the interior of the church and a wonderful view over Rome. The dome alone took 100 years to construct and decorate. We visited the Vatican Grottoes where a number of glass-sided coffins containing bodies of the Popes are on view. Here too, the Tomb of St. Peter has been discovered, in the exact spot indicated by tradition. We saw the beautiful Vatican Picture Gallery and Vatican Library which contains one of the most valuable book collections in the world, for number, rarity and importance. The Sistine Chapel is one of the most outstanding masterpieces of Italian art. Michelangelo's celebrated and magnificent frescoes, such as "The Creation of Adam," decorate the walls and vault. On the great wall of the altar, "The Last Judgement" is depicted. Rome is beautiful, fascinating and has something to offer to everyone.

One evening we took a short trip to Tivoli—about 45 minutes outside Rome where is found the Villa d'Este. It is an Italian garden interspersed with different sizes and types of water fountains. It is a great engineering feat, for the 500 varied fountains are run strictly through the aid of nature and not by gadgets or pumps. Each fountain had a name, such as "The Hundred Fountains," but only one fountain was safe to drink from.

From Rome to Pisa, we travelled along the Mediterranean coast. We were in Pisa for only a couple of hours but got to see the Leaning Tower. Its size and degree of slant was surprising. We travelled on to Nice on the French Riviera where we stretched on the beach with the lovely blue Mediterranean lapping at our feet. Unfortunately the weather got miserable, so our beaching time was limited but the city's beauty—the palm trees and Mediterranean, the beach with its illuminated boulevards and promenades—was a compensation for the weather. One night we walked into a gambling casino called the Palais de la Mediterranee. We were only able to see one gambling room in the luxurious casino before being politely asked to leave because we weren't wearing a dinner jacket and tie.

The Editor's Lotbook

A real co-incident, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Bright at Sinclair were having breakfast one morning this week and when Oliver opened his egg it turned out to be a triple-yolker and when Mrs. Bright opened hers it was a double-yolker. A cow moose was seen by Delwyn Bulloch on Wednesday evening of last week on the summer fallow field belonging to Baxter Busby, just west of the fair grounds. The Winnipeg Blue Bombers returned to earth on Monday when they invaded Regina where the Roughriders proved them to be mortals after all. One thing about Reston golfers they have a great record when it comes to hitting trees. Take last Sunday at Hamlet where Bill Iles had his tree shot on the seventh hole heading for the middle of a clump of poplars, when one grabbed it and threw it back on the fairway. Bill's comment was "You got to live right." And then Orville Klusendorf teeing off on the eighth planted his shot into the middle of another clump of poplar and after saying "goah" and turning around to pick up another ball, found his first ball right in the middle of the fairway. It had rattled off several poplars and rolled out to the fairway in the interval.

What in the world is Mr. Case doing?

He's having his chest x-rayed. The machine that's doing it is a 70 mm transportable Odelco Unit. It's taken over 15,000 x-rays, and machines like it have discovered 405 active tuberculosis cases in Manitoba, from January 1971 to June 1972. They also detect or discover Bronchitis and Emphysema.

If you've ever bought a ticket to a Manitoba Golden Sweepstakes Draw, there's a chance that you helped pay for the 70 mm Odelco Unit. Through the sale of tickets, the Manitoba Lotteries provide funds for non-profit organizations to buy necessary items like x-ray machines, build retirement homes for senior citizens, and make many more worthwhile dreams come true.

Buy a ticket on the Manitoba Golden Sweepstakes Football Draw. Prizes total $400,250 and first prize is $100,000. With the help of the Manitoba Lotteries Mr. Case and many others will enjoy peace of mind, and you'll enjoy knowing you played a part.

Elections past present and future. What person with farm blood in his veins would waste thought or effort on such a trifling subject when there is good harvest weather and a good crop to stow away.

I don't just remember when the voters on both sides of the 49th parallel had their chance so close together to have their say about who is to be in the drivers seat for the next few years.

One thing that seems to be a trend in our politics is that those who have been in power for a longer than average term should be turned out and let some one else get his front feet in the trough. Also that leaders in those positions get it where the chicken got the axe. Instances Smallwood and Bennett.

Only the few shrewd ones like Roblin and Manning seemed to sense the inevitable and bow out gracefully.

Some one said that "the opposite of love is not hate, but indifference." — "Politics makes strange bedfellows."

Child—Mum, do cowboys eat grass? Mother—Don't be foolish, cowboys are part human.

Reggie's Ramblings

● In the latest informed circles we don't refer to the conductor of a meeting any more as the "chairman", we say the "chairperson" . . . and how stupid can we get, anyway!

● Census return shows the city of London (England) has 106 girls for every 100 men . . . and the question is, who gets the extra eight?

● Noting that Prime Minister Trudeau has been nominated for the honor of being named one of the ten best dressed men in the world, a Toronto clothing stylist says that, until this year, Trudeau was "a sloppy dresser" . . . seems like Margaret must be given credit for the switch.

● Having now heard and seen Charles Lynch playing his harmonica on a television program, I have to agree that, as a mouth organist, Charles is a great columnist.

● Politicians on being elected to office -- federal, provincial or municipal -- either grow in stature . . . or swell.

● According to the editor of the Chicago Journalist Review, "newspapers are the last bastion of feudal primogeniture" . . . sure, I had to look that one up in Webster's too.

● The Blue Bombers finally discovered that the way to win a football game is to put some points on the board in the opening half.

● With the passing of "Brad the Clown" something real and very fine went from Winnipeg life . . . leaving the Big City the poorer.

● Confucius says: "True music does not consist in the mere beating of bells and drums."

● Promoters squawked loudly because a show in Winnipeg Playhouse by a rock group band named "Cap'n Midnite's Dirty Fenchikies" less than fifty paying customers. Seems like the kids who comprise most rock group audiences are getting some sense . . . imagine shelling out dough to hear an outfit with a name like that.

● They're considering who to invite to Winnipeg's Centennial celebration in 1974 . . . it's to be hoped nobody will be stupid enough to invite any characters like John Lennon and Oko, this time.

● Couple of headlined stories on page one made queer reading: A motorist picked up two hitchhikers -- who beat, robbed and dumped him out of his car. Another picked up a hitchhiker and when he got out to buy a snack at a beryery the motorist drove off with all the hiker's belongings. Moral of these tales is: If you pick up a hitchhiker, or if you bum a ride, you're asking for trouble.

● Overheard in the ST. REGIS Beverage Room: "That 30-27 Edmonton win over Hamilton with Eskimos overcoming a 20-point lead in the final quarter was great -- if you were an Edmonton fan -- but watching on TV I figure it was tarnished by some blantly bad "pass interference" calls by officials."

Read Mark 2: 1-12

Some people came, bringing him (Jesus) a paralyzed man—four of them were carrying him. (Mark 2:3, TEV)

While I was teaching Vacation Bible School last year, one of the girls dropped and smashed a small incense vase used in our church plays. Three junior boys said they would try to glue the pieces back together—something I thought impossible. Next morning I saw the glued vase was restored to its original shape, whole and still lovely.

The vision of another broken ceramic came back to me. Long ago, I had a most beautiful, graceful, white ceramic swan. One day my little boy accidentally broke it into a dozen pieces, and we threw them away. The boys had shown me that my swan could have been fixed, had I only tried.

Now I wonder about other broken things. What about our shattered dreams? Have we given them up too soon. How many broken hearts could be
